DR. COOK GOES AWAY TO REST

Arctic Explorer on the Verge of Nervous Breakdown.

PLACE OF RETREAT A SECRET

Is Said to Fear Plot to Steal His Records, and Wife Had Him Conveyed to Seclusion—Wellman Doubts Cook's Polar Story.

New York, Nov. 29.—The mystery of Dr. Cook's strange disappearance has been explained. He has gone away to seek recuperation. Where he is resting is not stated, but it is desired that he shall have absolute quiet.

It was said that Dr. Cook's health is a matter of great concern among his friends. Prior to his sudden retirement he was reported to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and it is thought that the necessity for absolute rest may have prompted his wife to insist on his seclusion until he shall have recuperated.

Friends of Dr. Cook, who are grieved over the turn his affairs have taken of late, undertook to explain the situation in this wise: "It is true," they say, "that the doctor's fears have been greatly worked on by the belief of some of those with whom he associated that there exists a plot to steal his records and even to spirit him away in person. He even engaged two private detectives to shadow his supposed shadowers. Mrs. Cook and those in her confidence felt that this atmosphere was not good for the doctor and arranged to have him conveyed into seclusion."

The doctor intended no mystery. All that aspect of his affairs has resulted from the announcement made by Mr. Wack, who has not seen Dr. Cook for a week, and merely acted on presumption that he was to sail on the Caronia.

Mrs. Cook's whereabouts is as much of a mystery as that of her husband. She is supposed to be staying some where in the city, but just where it could not be learned.

Mr. Wack, his counsel, has gone to the country for a week, also to seek seclusion. Mr. Wack, his confidant, affirms that he knows where Dr. Cook is and that he isn't going to tell.

WELLMAN DOUBTS COOK

Suspicious of What He Tells as Well as What He Does.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Walter Wellman, whose preparations for a conquest of the North Pole in an airship were abandoned upon the announcement of the claims of Dr. Frederick A. Cook and Commander Robert E. Peary, issued a long statement here in which he analyzes the narratives of the two explorers, declaring that of Peary "precise, workmanlike, consistent, credible in every particular," and denouncing that of Dr. Cook as a self-evident and even deliberate imposture.

"Cook's story is suspicious both in what it does tell and what it does not tell," Mr. Wellman declares. "He is generally vague and indefinite, but, like most men of his class, altogether too precise at the wrong place. Now where does his story ring true. It is always an approximation of reality. This is true of his figures, his descriptions, everything."

"Those of us who have had a share in Arctic work," says Wellman, in concluding his analysis, "and who have felt anxiety that no blot of fraud should stain the proud record of effort and sacrifice, had a first hope—that Dr. Cook would be able to demonstrate his good faith. This has dissolved in analysis of his own story."

NEW BUTTER SWINDLE

Oleo Was Refined and Made to Look Taste and Smell Like Butter.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 29.—Through the arrest and the indictment by the federal grand jury of A. E. Graham, of Janesville, Wis., United States authorities say they have disclosed the operations of an organized gang of butter swindlers who are working the country.

By means of a machine perfected by Graham, oleomargarine was refined and given the appearance, taste and smell of creamery butter. It was declared that the alleged fraud was detected only after analysis of some of the "butter."

Struck by Bowling Ball, Boy Is Dead.

Boston, Nov. 29.—Herbert Norr, aged fifteen years, of Revere, is dead at his home as a result of being struck by a bowling ball at the Lincoln alleys in Cliftondale on Thanksgiving day. Young Norr was employed as a pin boy in the bowling alleys. When he was hit Norris lay unconscious for a time, but recovered and said he felt all right. Next morning his mother found him unconscious in bed, and he never recovered.

Lynch Negro Who Attacked Girl.

Shreveport, La., Nov. 29.—A negro attacked Jennie McMillan, seven years old, daughter of Mrs. Anna McMillan. He was captured and hanged from the street car viaduct in the west end of the city.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION.

The Record of New Construction of Industries and of Progress Along Two of the Southeast's Railways, For a Year—An Indication of What Is Being Done in Southern Development.

The showing made in the fiscal year, ending June 30th last, of the new industries, additions to established industries and the expenditures for improvements of various kinds in the cities and towns along the Southern Railway and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, is a remarkable one. It is considered that the period covered includes the last half of the year 1908 and the first half of the present year, a time when the demand for manufactured goods of all kinds in this country was at low ebb, and capital was hard to find for new investments of any kind and in any portion of the country. Some of the figures for the industrial investments along the Southern Railway have heretofore been published. They show a total of 453 new industries, calling for an investment of $20,413,835, and additions to existing industries costing $7,883,936. In the same period there were put under construction new industries to be completed later in which $6,473,000 will be invested. Since the close of the Southern's fiscal year there has been a steady improvement in all business conditions, manufacturers and operators of mines have felt warranted in renewing plans for new plants and capitalists and bankers have been more ready to supply needed funds for industrial investments. The new industries begun in the last half of 1909 greatly outnumber those begun in the first half of the year, so that for the first time in two years the normal industrial advance of the Southeastern States may be said to be under way. It is confidently expected and all the indications show that the present year will greatly exceed the past in the amount of factory building and in the investments made in all kinds of industries. That over $28,000,000 should be invested in industrial development in the period covered, along one line of road in the Southeast shows in the most marked manner the advantages of that section for various lines of industries.

The growth of industries along the line of the Mobile & Ohio railroad was also marked. In the stretch of 1,000 miles of territory covered by that road there were constructed in 1908-09, ending June 30th, 55 new industries, at a cost of $2,123,600, while additions to existing plants raised the investment $2,254,700.

The figures from the two lines show duplication at four or five points. Taking out these the two lines show an aggregate of 489 new plants costing $21,149,535 and a total investment in industries of $35,809,071, including the amount which went into new industries under construction on June 30, to be completed at a later date.

In general improvement during the year there were increased along the Southern Railway $69,315,280, making the total amount invested in all improvements for which statistics are gathered $103,186,051. The aggregate amount invested along the Mobile & Ohio Railroad was $12,397,553. It is noteworthy that during the year along the Southern $3,802,280 were spent for new schools, $1,386,115 for new churches, $10,470,818 for business structures, $32,212,936 for new residences. At the same time the amount expended for public improvements was $5,558,391 on streets, $3,530,283 on sewers, $3,060,204 for water works and water supply of towns and cities. These figures show in the most conclusive manner the growth of the South in wealth and ability to make needed improvements as well as the continued expansion of its business. There were built in the twelve months along the line of the Southern Railway, in cities, towns and villages, no less than 13,000 residences.

The statistics are not available to show just what the gain has been during the year agriculturally, but that the same advance in agriculture has been made as in the various industries is certain. Indeed, there was probably a much greater advance. The statistics published by the United States department of agriculture show in the nine Southeastern States, through which the Southern Railway and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad run, returns from the staple crops of cotton, corn, wheat, oats, potatoes, hay and tobacco in 1908 of $868,000,000. It is well known that the greatest advance is taking place in the methods of cultivation, soil preservation, crop diversification, and in everything which goes to the prosperity of the farmer, and also that on Southern farms more and more conveniences and improvements of all kinds are being added, while the great value of Southern soils are being demonstrated as never before. There has been a steady movement of the people from the Western and Northern European countries, to the territory reached by the lines. This movement is gaining all the time, as the value of the Southern farm lands become better known.

In the present year there has been investment in industries along the Southern Railway and Mobile & Ohio Railroad the enormous amount of $158,000,000. This great industrial expansion has come because the resources and other conditions which effect industrial development are found to the best advantage in the Southeastern States.

It's always the last word that brings on the first blow.

The greatness thrust upon us is sure to grate upon our neighbors.

DE ARMOND MET DEATH IN FIRE

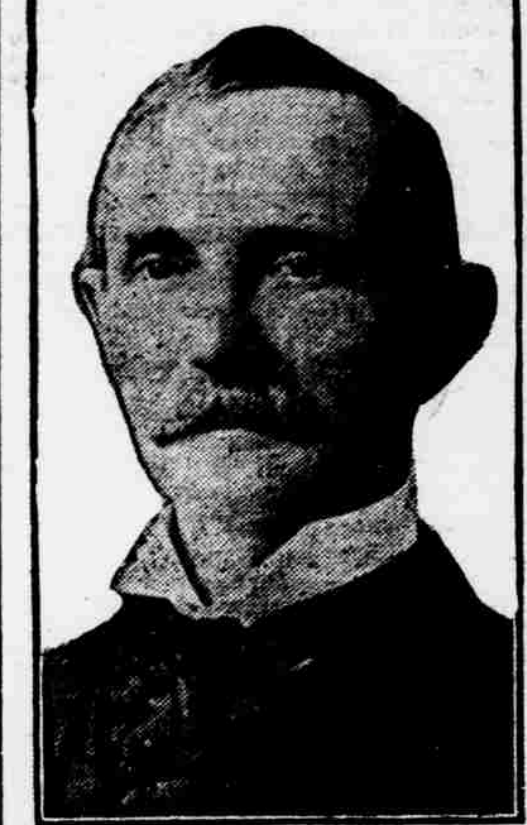

Congressman Perished With Grandson in Burning Home.

DAUGHTER SAVES MOTHER

Democratic Leader Sacrificed His Life In Effort to Save Grandson—Their Bodies Found Lying Side by Side in Ruins.

Representative David DeArmond, one of the most widely known Democratic congressmen, and his grandson, David A. DeArmond III, aged six years, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the DeArmond home at Butler, Mo.

Congressman DeArmond and his young grandson occupied one room on the south side of the building, while Mrs. DeArmond and Mrs. Hattie Clark, a married daughter, were in separate rooms on the opposite side of the house. Nattie Boles, twenty-six years old, a maid, had a room on the west end of the house.

Mrs. Clark was awakened by a cry and on going to the door of her part saw smoke issuing from the room of the house where the congressman and "Waddie," as the grandson was called, slept.

"Get me out of here!" she heard Waddie cry.

"Never mind, son; I'll save you," Congressman DeArmond answered.

Those were the last words either of the victim uttered. A moment later the smoke increased in volume and Mrs. Clark was forced to flee downstairs to the telephone. Within a minute's time she had given the alarm to the telephone office and hurried back to the room of her mother-in-law, which was clouded with smoke and flames were leaping from the windows. Groping her way to Mrs. DeArmond's bedside, she literally dragged her from the room. There was no time to think of saving those in the other part of the house. Urging her mother down the stairway, the younger woman, with difficulty, succeeded in reaching and opening the street door.

Nattie Boles, the maid, it developed later, had been one of the first to escape. She reached the street from the rear door after the first cry of fire. She was unhurt, but too frightened to comprehend the situation and had fled from the scene.

The financial loss is placed at $30,000, and included one of the best libraries in the state. The cause of the fire is not known. The two bodies were found lying side by side.

Women Die to Save Their Men.

Firing from the doorway of their home at Williamson, W. Va., on a sheriff's posse to give husband and father time to escape, Mrs. Charles Daniels and her sixteen-year-old daughter were shot to death near Devon.

The tragedy grew out of a family feud between the Christians and Daniels on the borders of Kentucky and West Virginia. The Christians live in Mingo county, West Virginia, and the Daniels in Pike county, Kentucky.

About three weeks ago George Christian ventured to the Kentucky side and was killed by Jim Daniels. The men were brothers-in-law and had formerly been allies.

The Christians swore out warrants for Jim Daniels and his brother Charles and led a posse of Pike county officers to serve them at the Daniels' home.

When the officers had approached within a few feet of the house, Mrs. Daniels and her daughter opened fire with rifles, one of the posse receiving a bullet in the arm.

Mrs. Daniels was first shot down and her daughter stood over her and fired upon the posse until she dropped dead across her mother, pierced by three bullets.

By their self-sacrifice the mother and daughter had enabled the men to escape.

All Customs Frauds to Be Pressed.

Criminal prosecutions against the "keeper trunk" customs frauds, press of indictments to avoid lapses under the statute of limitations and customs investigation generally are discussed at a conference at the treasury department in Washington.

Secretary MacVeagh, Attorney General Wickham, Collector Loeb and United States District Attorney Wise, of the southern district of New York, will participate.

Incidentally, Secretary MacVeagh announced that the $2,000,000 odd which the American Sugar Refining company had paid to the government on account of evasion of duties, was regarded by the government as a complete settlement for all its underweighting frauds.

That amount, however, he said, affected no other evasions of duty and no wise figured as to any other matters, and the government proposed to recover much more money because of frauds the trust had committed.

After the conference Mr. MacVeagh said that the sugar frauds were overshadowing in interest one of the most important phases of the whole investigation, the commission of frauds by importers with trunks with false bottoms involving losses of millions to the government.

Seal Bodies Up in Cherry Mine. The St. Paul mine, at Cherry, Ill., in which 510 coal miners were entombed by fire and explosion on Saturday, Nov. 13, has been sealed up. The fire was gaining such headway that it was thought best to cut off all air. The shaft will probably remain closed for several weeks.

The bodies of nearly 200 men are entombed within its depths. The concrete wall has hermetically closed the fire-seared mouth of the mine. Hope of ever recovering the bodies of these victims has vanished in the face of the step taken by the mine officials. The sealing of the mine was the last recourse.

Washington's Tent Sold.

Miss Mary Custis Lee, of Richmond, Va., the only daughter of General Robert E. Lee, the Confederate leader, has sold the George Washington tent, in which place of canvas the Father of his Country lived during the Revolutionary War, to the Valley Forge Museum of Pennsylvania for $5000, which proceeds have been donated by Miss Lee to the Home for Newly Confederate Women in this city.

The tent has been an heirloom in the family of the Virginia Lees since the Revolutionary days.

Roosevelt Party Are Well.

Reports received in Nairobi, British East Africa, from the Roosevelt hunting expedition are that all the members are well and will return to Londiani Nov. 30.

During the hunting on the Guas Inghu plain Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit killed four elephants for the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

The party took many other trophies, including five horned giraffes, a leopard, a roan bushbuck, a Jackson's harebeeste, an oribi, a singing topi, a bohor and a kob.

Atlantic City's Huge Profit.

Nearly $10,000,000 in cash has been deposited in the Atlantic City banks as the profits of one of the biggest seasons on record. Figures shown by reports of the eight banks and trust companies place the exact total at $8,501,071. Local bankers declare their belief that the addition of deposits in building and loan and other funds will run the total season's savings of the resort's population up to $12,000,000.

Company Formed to Build Aeroplanes.

Shonts, Allan A. Ryan, Morton F. Plant, Howard Gould, August Belmont, Robert J. Collier, August Belmont, Edward J. Berwind and Russell A. Alger. The company is capitalized at a million.

Wounded Deer Chases Hunter.

Edward Luckey, while hunting in Pike county, near Stroudsburg, Pa., had an unpleasant experience with a large buck. Luckey wounded the buck, which showed fight, and the animal, swinging around, struck him with his horns. Luckey becoming frightened and the animal infuriated, a chase started, with the man in the lead. The buck had gone some distance when it fell over dead.

Sherman's Daughter Asks Divorce.

Sue for an absolute divorce and also for the custody of her two children was instituted in Washington by Mrs. Mary Sherman McCullum, the adopted daughter and heiress of the late John Sherman, of Ohio, secretary of state, secretary of the treasury and senator. In her bill Mrs. McCullum names Susie McDonald Hopkins as a co-respondent.

Nels Larsen, a Norwegian, gave a remarkable exhibition of proficiency in the use of skis at Caldwell, N. J. He ran down the western slope of Caldwell mountain to Pinebrook, a distance of nearly four miles, in four and three-quarter minutes. Larson covered the first mile in about half a minute.

FEAR TRADE WAR WITH CANADA

An Effort May be Made to Again Revise Tariff.

STAND-PATTERS PROVOKED

Congressman Mann Will Introduce a Number of Bills in the House That Is Expected to Open Up the Tariff Argument—Payne Pooh-Poohs Revision Talk.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Stand-pat Republicans do not like the clamor from various quarters for another revision of the tariff by the present congress. They are very much provoked over the situation and are particularly incensed with Representatives James R. Mann, of Illinois, who has announced a purpose to introduce a series of bills in the house that is expected to open up the tariff for serious discussion at the coming session. Mr. Mann's prominence and his affiliation with the Cannon organization make his course something to be reckoned with.

Representative Seno E. Payne, of New York, chairman of the committee on ways and means, who has just come to town, pooh-poos the idea that the house may be induced this winter to raise the tariff in whole as demanded by Republican insurgents in the west or in part as proposed by Representative Mann.

Mann Has Bills Ready.

It is a pretty prevalent belief in Washington that the Mann bills, relating to the tariff and the trade relations of the United States with Canada, will offer an excuse for agitation by Republicans such as Senator Cummins, of Iowa, who insists that the party failed to conform to its platform pledges of 1908 when it placed the Payne tariff act before the president for approval. One of Mr. Mann's bills provides for a change in the wood pulp print paper schedule of the new tariff law; another exempts Canadian products from the application of the maximum tariff, and a third provides for postponing the date upon which the maximum tariff shall become effective.

REPRESENTATIVE MANN.

Fear Trade War With Canada.

Representative Mann announced that he was prompted to introduce the bills because of a fear that if the tariff law was enforced in its present form a disaster would result. This fear is shared by some administration leaders. Whether the Mann bills will have the support of the administration has not been disclosed. Nor is it known what attitude Speaker Cannon will assume toward the measure. In addition to the significance attached to the purpose of Mr. Mann's move to revise the tariff by reason of the fact that he is one of the chief lieutenants of Speaker Cannon, Mr. Mann has been a frequent caller at the White House lately, and it is understood that he has acquainted the president with his determination to introduce bills for a partial revision of the tariff.

The administration, it is known, is very much concerned over the present trade relations of this country with Canada, and is apprehensive that commercial warfare with Canada would be more hurtful in its influence upon American trade than would be the minimum rates to Canadian products, as well as to the products of other countries, while certain senators and representatives contend that through the instrumentality of the maximum and minimum tariff they reviewed the rates upward instead of downward.

BLOOD POISON.

One of the Most Wonderful Cures on Record.

Our little daughter had a case of typhoid fever when she was three years old. It settled in her right leg, the leg swelling up just above the knee and burst, and pieces of bone came out. We had three or four doctors attend her, but they could do her no good at all. They said there would have to be an operation, and we took her to Darlington, S. C., and had an operation performed. We waited about four months, and took her to Charleston Hospital for another operation, and kept her there three months. Dr. Simmons, the head surgeon there, said the leg would have to be amputated, but I would not consent to it. I brought her back to Darlington, and had another operation performed there. I waited four or five months, and took her to the Memorial Hospital in Richmond, Va., and had an operation performed. She stayed there one month and five days, and came back apparently well. In eight months after her return, her leg swelled again, and burst again in the same place. Pieces of bone were discharged. We called in the doctor of this place. She had a hemorrhage from the lungs. The doctor said her leg would have to come off. I went to the drug store, got six bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and commenced giving it to her according to directions. In two weeks' time, she could get out of bed. By the time she had taken the six bottles the leg was healed up. Up to this time, she has taken several more bottles. Her leg seems perfectly well. She goes to school every day, and has only a slight limp. Her general health is better than it has ever been, and she is still taking the Remedy, as we wish to be sure that all the poison is eradicated from her system. Before taking your Remedy, she was in bed nearly all the time, and could scarcely walk without the aid of crutches. Now she has no need of them.

She is now ten years of age. I consider your Remedy the finest preparation in the world. Yours sincerely, MRS. E. F. KELLY.

Now of Jonesboro, N. C.

Charlotte, N. C., April 23, 1908.

I was in Lumberton, N. C., on October 8, 1907. Several of the ladies had a great deal to tell me in regard to the wonderful cure of Mrs. E. F. Kelly's child. They saw her at a time when she was considered at death's door, and the doctors had said that amputation of the child's leg was the only hope of saving the child's life; that the cure of my Remedy had effected of her case was nothing short of a miracle. I went to Mrs. Kelly's, and saw the mother, but the little girl was at school. The letter from Mrs. Kelly given above explains the child's condition. I was in Lumberton again on the eighth of April, 1908, and again went to see Mrs. Kelly. The little girl was at home, and when she was told who I was, she jumped into my arms with a delighted cry of welcome. "I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for seeing you, Mrs. Joe Person, for you saved my life." She is as healthy a specimen of a child as can be found in the State, and a child of winning grace and beauty. She is not even left with a limp. Mrs. Kelly told me that the frequent "operations" that were made on the child consisted of splitting the child's leg to the bone, scraping the bone, and cutting away the diseased flesh. The scars were left from these operations were fearful; the one on the outside of her leg extends to the bone for the length of seven inches; the one on the inside for four inches.

Healthy natural skin now covers the bone, and her leg is perfectly well, and her general health perfect. Mrs. Kelly showed me a drainage tube which she had to insert by the doctor's direction every day, passing it through the decayed bone of her leg. When she would syringe a wash through either opening, it would draw out the pus, and the odor was so bad that Mrs. Kelly said the leg was virtually homecoming with this decayed flesh. It would pay anyone scientifically interested in a subject of this importance to go to Lumberton, and see what my Remedy has done for Mrs. Kelly's little girl.

I am, very truly, MRS. JOE PERSON.
